

Research groups in Social Sciences and Humanities

updated 7 December 2015

Note:

- Below, a number of research departments and groups affiliated with the USPC are classified by their research focus within Social Sciences and Humanities. This is not an exhaustive list and does not include all departments or groups within USPC that are eligible for an INSPIRE fellowship. You may find additional groups via the webpages of the eight establishments (Université Sorbonne Nouvelle, Université Paris 13, EHESP, INALCO, Sciences Po, Université Paris Diderot, IPGP, Université Paris Descartes) within the USPC.
- The research focus has been classified using the European Research Council (ERC) keywords. Note that these indicators may not fully represent the research focus of the department or group. The corresponding group/lab webpage, or contact person, will be able to provide you with more details about that group's, or laboratory's, research activities and focus.
- The Language of communication, and in which the thesis may be written, listed in the below tables for a particular group indicates the language which may be used in addition to French, and if not indicated, is by default French.
